JUSTIN MAULLIN

HEAD COACH

2ND SEASON • 12-6-4 (.636)

WILLIAM CAREY '97

Justin Maullin begins his second season as head men's soccer coach at UNCG, and his first without the "interim" tag.

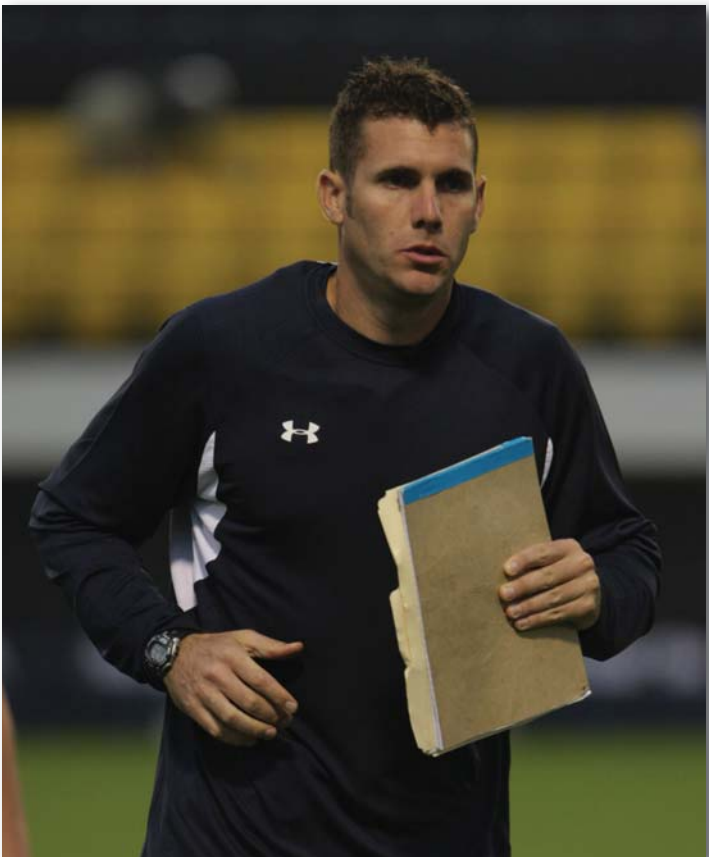

Maullin made his promotion an easy decision for UNCG Director of Athletics Kim Record, who officially made Maullin the program's seventh head coach on Nov. 22, 2010 after nearly a year as the interim boss.

All Maullin did in his first season was guide the Spartans to a share of the Southern Conference regular season title, the SoCon Tournament championship and the program's 12th NCAA Tournament appearance since 1991. Maullin was an easy choice for SoCon Coach of the year honors, becoming the first rookie head coach in the 22-year history of the conference tournament to claim the title.

"I'm pleased to remove the 'interim' before Justin's title," said Record. "Justin has proven that he is the best fit for our program as it moves forward. His commitment to the development of our student-athletes - on the soccer field, in the classroom and as young men - is one of the reasons that he will be successful."

"I want to thank Kim Record for the opportunity that she gave me back in January as the interim coach and now for this fantastic opportunity to be the head coach," said Maullin. "I am extremely grateful and one thing is for certain I will work hard to continue to make Kim, this department and our alumni proud."

Maullin, 35, was appointed the interim head coach on Jan. 8, 2010 -- two days after the retirement of long-time head coach Michael Parker. He had previously served as the program's full-time assistant for five seasons (2005-2009). He is the seventh head coach in the program's history, following Hall of Famers Parker and Mike Berticelli.

In all, Maullin led the Spartans to a 12-6-4 overall record in 2010. But it was the way UNCG played down the stretch which turned heads.

Owning a pedestrian 5-5-1 record in early October, the Spartans came to life over the final six weeks of the season, enjoying an 11-match unbeaten streak (8-0-3) which culminated with a 1-0 win over Furman in the Southern Conference Tournament championship game. A 3-0 loss at Georgetown in the opening round of the NCAA Tournament couldn't put a damper on a magical season.

"I told the guys that I am not going to let this one game define our season," Maullin said after the match. "It has been an incredible year and an incredible journey. I told the guys who are returning that they have set the bar high for next year."

Maullin had just nine players return from the 2009 roster and brought 19 new players into the program. Seven of those new players were in the starting lineup on opening night. Among the new players were five all-conference selections, including the Southern Conference's eventual leading scorer Hakan Ilhan.

A native of Johannesburg, South Africa, Maullin spent six seasons as an assistant at UCF before coming to UNCG. During Maullin's tenure at UCF, the Golden Knights won 10 or more matches in five out of six seasons, advancing to the NCAA tournament each of his last three seasons. In his six overall seasons at UNCG, the Spartans have advanced to the NCAA tournament four times, with three of those appearances resulting in advancement to the round of 16.

Maullin attended William Carey College in Gulfport, Miss. He graduated from William Carey in 1997 with a bachelor's degree in management and marketing. During his time with the Crusaders, he served as a team captain and earned NAIA Academic All-American honors. He was also drafted into the Eastern Indoor Soccer League. Maullin played two years for the Cocoa Expos and two years for the Central Florida Kraze. In 1993 he signed with the New Orleans Gamblers.

Maullin later earned a master's degree from UCF in business administration in December 2001.

In April 2011, Maullin was inducted as a member of the inaugural Hall of Fame class at William Carey.

After his graduation from William Carey, he stayed on with the Crusaders as an assistant men's soccer coach for two seasons, helping to guide the Crusaders to back-to-back NAIA national semifinal appearances. He helped William Carey to a No. 1-ranking in 1996 as a student-athlete and as an assistant coach in 1997 and 1998. In April 2007, Maullin was inducted into William Carey's Wall of Fame for his post-graduation successes.

He and his wife, Brittany, reside in Greensboro.

SCOTT BRITTSAN

ASSISTANT COACH

13TH SEASON

UNCG '94

Scott Brittsan enters in his 13th year as an assistant coach with the UNCG men's soccer program. This is his second season in a full-time role after serving as a part-time assistant for 11 years.

Brittsan assists in all aspects of day-to-day operations, including practice planning and recruiting. He also helps to coordinate a portion of the team's strength and conditioning workouts. He is also an assistant director of the Spartan Soccer Camps.

Prior to joining the Spartan staff, Brittsan was the varsity boys' soccer coach at Greensboro Day School, where he compiled a record of 77-20 in five years. In 1996, Brittsan was named Guilford County Coach of the Year and PACIS Conference Coach of the Year after leading the Bengals to a conference title and the state independent schools' title game.

Brittsan has also been active in Greensboro Soccer Club, where he has coached teams to two state titles. He was the 2003 Boys Classic Division Coach of the Year for the Greensboro Soccer Club. He is currently an assistant director with the Greensboro Soccer Club, overseeing the program's U-15 and U-18 divisions. In addition, he also coordinates the strength and conditioning programs for the U-15 and U-18 divisions.

He has also previous served as an assistant coach in the North Carolina ODP program.

A 1994 graduate of UNCG, Brittsan was a three-year member of the Spartan men's soccer team and was a member of the Division II national runner-up squad in 1989.

JAY BENFIELD

ASSISTANT COACH

2ND SEASON

UNCG '06

A former standout goalkeeper for the Spartans, Jay Benfield is in his second season as an assistant coach at his alma mater.

Prior to returning to Greensboro, Benfield served two seasons as an assistant coach at Lees-McRae. He helped the squad to the NCAA Division II tournament Round of 16 after winning the Conference Carolinas regular-season and tournament titles in 2008. In 2009, Lees-McRae was No. 1 in the nation during the regular season, winning the Conference Carolinas regular-season crown. The club finished 18-3-2 and advanced all the way to the NCAA Division II national championship game, falling to Fort Lewis, 1-0.

A 2006 graduate of UNCG, Benfield also currently serves as a coach in the Twin City Youth Soccer Association and has previously served as an assistant coach at West Forsyth High School (2006-2008).

Benfield was a goalkeeper for the Spartans from 2001-2005, helping the UNCG to the NCAA tournament's round of 16 in 2004 and 2005. He logged a school-record 5,324 minutes in goal for the Spartans. An All-SoCon selection as a senior, he was the driving force behind the Spartans' rise to No. 1 in the nation in 2004 and a No. 8 seed in the NCAA tournament. In 2005, he lifted UNCG into the round of 16 with a pair of stops in penalty kicks at Virginia Tech.

Benfield recorded 14 career shutouts and owned a goals against average below 1.00 his junior and senior seasons.

MARC NICHOLLS

VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH

2ND SEASON

UNCG '06

Marc Nicholls is in his first season as an assistant coach at UNCG, but is no stranger to soccer in the Greensboro area.

Nicholls will serve as an assistant coach while working as the technical director for Greensboro Youth Soccer. He joined GYS in 2005 after three years with Roanoke Star in Roanoke, Va., as their director of coaching.

Prior to his stint in Virginia, Nicholls was the director of coaching at the New Orleans Soccer Academy. NOSA enjoyed unprecedented success during his tenure, achieving multiple state and regional titles.

He has been involved in youth soccer for more than 12 years, including a period in his native Wolverhampton, England, before moving to the United States in 1997. He has since worked with the Louisiana, Virginia and North Carolina Olympic Development Programs.

Nicholls graduated from Liverpool JM University with a degree in history. He played soccer at both the county and university level in England.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE

The Southern Conference

The Southern Conference, which began its 91st season of intercollegiate competition in 2011, is a national leader in emphasizing the development of the student-athlete and in helping to build lifelong leaders and role models.

The Southern Conference has been on the forefront of innovation and originality in developing creative solutions to address issues facing intercollegiate athletics. From establishing the first conference basketball tournament (1921), tackling the issue of freshmen eligibility (1922), developing women's championships (1984), to becoming the first conference to install the three-point goal in basketball (1980), the Southern Conference has been a pioneer.

The Southern Conference is the nation's fifth-oldest NCAA Division I collegiate athletic association. Only the Big Ten (1896), the Missouri Valley (1907), the Pacific 10 (1915) and the Southwestern Athletic (1920) conferences are older in terms of origination.

Academic excellence has been a major part of the Southern Conference's tradition. Hundreds of Southern Conference student-athletes have been recognized on Capital One Academic All-America and all-district teams. A total of 19 Rhodes Scholarship winners have been selected from conference institutions.

The Conference currently consists of 12 members in five states throughout the Southeast and sponsors 19 varsity sports and championships that produce participants for NCAA Division I Championships.

The Southern Conference offices are located in the historic Beaumont Mill in Spartanburg, S.C. A textile mill that was in operation from 1880 until 1999, Beaumont Mill was renovated in 2004 and today offers the league first class meeting areas and offices as well as a spacious library for storage of the conference's historical documents.

Membership History

On Feb. 25, 1921, representatives from 14 of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association's (SIAA) 30 members met at Atlanta's Piedmont Hotel to establish the Southern Intercollegiate Conference. On hand at the inaugural meeting were officials from Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic Institute (Auburn), Clemson, Georgia, Georgia School of Technology (Georgia Tech), Kentucky, Maryland, Mississippi A&M (Mississippi State), North Carolina, North Carolina State, Tennessee, Virginia, Virginia Polytechnic Institute (Virginia Tech) and Washington & Lee.

Dr. S.V. Sanford of Georgia was chosen as acting chairman and N.W. Dougherty of Tennessee was named secretary. The decision to form a new athletic conference was motivated by the desire to have a workable number of conference games for each league member. With 30 schools in the SIAA by the early 1920s, it was impossible to play every school at least once during the regular season and many schools went several years between playing some conference members. In addition, in 1920, the SIAA voted down proposed rules that an athlete must be in a college a year before playing on its teams and refused to abolish a rule permitting athletes to play summer baseball for money.

Play began in the fall of 1921 and a year later, six more schools joined the fledgling league including Tulane (which had attended the inaugural meeting but had elected not to join), Florida, Louisiana (LSU), Mississippi, South Carolina and Vanderbilt. VMI joined in 1925 and Duke was added in 1929.

By the 1930s, membership in the Southern Conference had reached 23 schools. C.P. "Sally" Miles of Virginia Tech, president of the Southern Conference, called the annual league meeting to order on Dec. 9, 1932 at the Farragut Hotel in Knoxville, Tenn. Georgia's Dr. Sanford announced that 13 institutions west and south of the Appalachian Mountains were reorganizing as the Southeastern Conference. Members of the new league included Alabama, Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Florida, Georgia, Georgia School of Technology, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Mississippi A&M, University of the South, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt.

According to the minutes of the meeting, Dr. Sanford stated that the division was made along geographical lines. Florida's Dr. J.J. Tigert, acting as spokesman for the withdrawing group, regretted the move but believed it was necessary as the Southern Conference had grown too large. The resignations were accepted and the withdrawing schools formed the new league which began play in 1932.

The Southern Conference continued with membership of 10 institutions including Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina, Virginia, VMI, Virginia Tech and Washington & Lee.

The second major shift occurred some 20 years later. By 1952, the Southern Conference included 17 colleges and universities. Another split occurred when seven schools including Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest departed to form the Atlantic Coast Conference which began play in 1953. The revamped Southern Conference included members The Citadel, Davidson, Furman, George Washington, Richmond, VMI, Virginia Tech, Washington & Lee, West Virginia and William & Mary.

Today, the league continues to thrive with a membership that includes 12 institutions and a footprint that spans five states: Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama and Georgia. Current league members are Appalachian State, College of Charleston, The Citadel, Davidson, Elon, Furman, Georgia Southern, UNC Greensboro, Samford, Chattanooga, Western Carolina and Wofford.

Leadership

John Iamarino was officially named commissioner of the conference on January 2, 2006. Iamarino has promoted the Southern Conference through an ambitious agenda which has improved competition, upgraded compliance-related matters, launched the conference's Hall of Fame and increased the marketing and brand awareness of the conference and its member institutions.

The Southern Conference named its first commissioner in December 1950. Duke head football coach Wallace Wade made the transition from Blue Devil football coach to athletics administration as the first person at the helm of the conference.

Lloyd Jordan replaced Wade as the commissioner in 1960 and served a 14-year term until Ken Germann became the league head in 1974. Germann was the commissioner for 13 years and orchestrated the league's expansion to include women's athletics. In 1987, he was succeeded by Dave Hart who spearheaded the transfer of the league office from Charlotte, N.C., to Asheville, N.C.

Wright Waters succeeded Hart upon his retirement in 1991. Under Waters' leadership, the Southern Conference expanded to 12 members, added three women's sports and posted record revenue from the basketball tournament. Waters, who is currently the commissioner of the Sun Belt Conference, was followed by Alfred B. White in 1998. White, a veteran member of the NCAA office, introduced the current conference logo and elevated the conference's commitment to marketing and development of corporate partners.

Danny Morrison headed the conference from 2001-2005 and orchestrated the league's move from Asheville, N.C., to Spartanburg, S.C. Under Morrison's leadership, the conference increased its marketing and promotional efforts.

Championship History

The first Southern Conference Championship was the league basketball tournament held in Atlanta in 1922. The North Carolina Tar Heels won the tournament to become the first recognized league champion in any sport. The Southern Conference Tournament remains the oldest of its kind in college basketball.

Commissioner Germann spearheaded the Southern Conference's expansion to include women's athletics during the 1983-84 season. That year, league championships were held in volleyball, basketball and tennis. Cross country joined the mix in 1985 and the league began holding indoor and outdoor track championships in 1988. Most recently, the conference instituted golf and softball championships in the spring of 1994 and added soccer in the fall of 1994.

The Germann Cup, named in honor of the former commissioner, annually recognizes the top women's athletics programs in the conference. From its humble beginnings, women's athletics have become an integral part of the Southern Conference and its success.

The Southern Conference declares champions in 10 men's sports - football, soccer, cross country, basketball, indoor track and field, outdoor track and field, wrestling, baseball, tennis and golf - and nine women's sports - soccer, volleyball, cross country, basketball, indoor track and field, outdoor track & field, tennis, golf and softball.

UNCG SOCCER STADIUM

The UNCG Soccer Stadium is a modern soccer-only facility located in the heart of campus. Both the men's and women's teams will enter their 21st season in the state-of-the-art facility.

Prior to the 1990 season, UNCG played on the same site, which was then-known as Campus Field. However, prior to the start of the 1991 season, the stadium underwent a major facelift to become what fans see today.

Prior to the renovation, the UNCG men's soccer team was as dominant on its home field as it is today. With the exception of most of the 1981 season and all of the 1982 season, the site of UNCG Soccer Stadium has served as the home field for the Spartans for more than 25 seasons. In that time, UNCG is an amazing 255-89-21 (.727).

Still today, the stadium that was originally built at a cost of $3.6 million, rivals any collegiate soccer facility in the nation. Among its several outstanding features:

- Permanent seating for 3,540 spectators in the grandstand along the east sideline, including 1,112 chairback seats in three sections at midfield and another 2,428 bleacher seats (with backs) in four other sections.
- Lighting, at 150-candle power, to accommodate live TV coverage.
- A soccer scoreboard with message center, press box and brick wall completely surrounding the facility. Plans are in place for the current scoreboard to be replaced prior to the 2009 season with a state-of-the-art videoboard.
- A bermuda style natural-grass playing field equipped with a state-of-the-art drainage system capable of removing up to six inches of water within a 24-hour period.
- A Wall of Honor (pictured on the next page) recognizing outstanding UNCG soccer players and coaches on the stadium concourse, as well as teams that have made the NCAA tournament or won an NCAA statistical title.

The stadium's opening coincided with UNCG's entry into NCAA Division I competition. It was dedicated before a sellout crowd September 7, 1991, as the men's team christened the new facility with a 3-1 win over Campbell. Four nights later, the squad stunned the college soccer world by defeating then-No. 2 NC State, 2-1.

The first women's soccer game played in UNCG Soccer Stadium was against Duke on September 11, 1991. The Blue Devils blanked the Spartans, 4-0. The first victory for UNCG came in a 7-0 rout of Erskine on September 13, 1991.

UNCG owns one of the strongest home field advantages in the country. In 19 seasons in the stadium, the women's team is 133-57-10 (.694), while the men's team is 134-49-12 (.724).

The largest crowd to attend a UNCG athletic event at the stadium was 4,225 on Oct. 5, 1991, for a homecoming men's soccer game against Ohio State. The Spartans won 6-0. Besides providing UNCG's teams with a first-class home, the stadium has also attracted a number of outside events to the campus. UNCG hosted the semifinal and final rounds of the NCAA Women's Soccer Championship in 1997 and 1998, focusing nationwide attention on Greensboro. A championship-record 20,058 fans attended in 1998, including a stadium single-event record 10,583 for the final. The championship was nationally televised by ESPN.

The stadium served as a site for the U.S. Youth Soccer Association regional championship during the summer of 1997. The Olympic champion women's national soccer team played the opening game in the Victory Tour presented by Nike in the stadium April 24, 1997, defeating France.

Also, prior to the 1996 Olympic Games, the Norwegian women's soccer team trained at the stadium and played an exhibition match against United States select players.

A match between the men's national teams of the U.S. and Canada was played in the stadium in 1992. The stadium served as the home of the professional Greensboro Dynamo from 1993-95, and is the site of the NC East-West High School All-Star soccer games each year.

In the summer of 2001, the Boston Breakers of the WUSA held their pre-season camp in the stadium.

UNCG Soccer Stadium has also hosted numerous Big South, Southern Conference and NCAA Tournament matches, including the 2004 and 2009 SoCon women's soccer tournament, 2007 SoCon men's soccer tournament and rounds of the 2004, 2005 and 2006 NCAA Men's Soccer Championships.

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro was first chartered back on Feb. 18, 1891, as the State Normal and Industrial School. It was the first state-supported school for the higher education of women in North Carolina. Founded by Charles Duncan McIver, it became co-educational in 1963. Today, in its 120th year of existence, the campus covers 210 acres in downtown Greensboro and has an enrollment that exceeded 17,000 for the first time ever last year. For fall 2008, 17,467 students were enrolled, including 13,453 undergraduates.

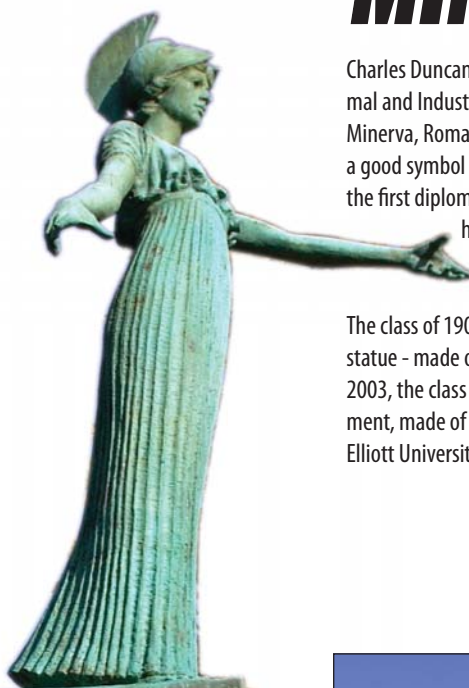

UNIVERSITY FOUNDER CHARLES McIVER

Founded in 1891, UNCG is a diverse, student-centered research university, linking the Triad and North Carolina to the world through learning, discovery and service. The university is organized into a College of Arts & Sciences and six professional schools, with more than 1,000 faculty members teaching in programs that offer more than 100 undergraduate, 56 master's and 25 doctoral degrees. Among its high-impact projects are the Gateway University Research Park and the Joint School of Nanoscience and Nanoengineering, which are being created in partnership with North Carolina A&T.

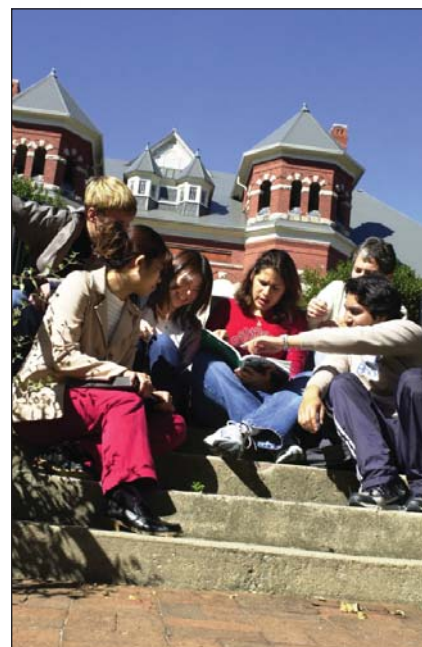

MINERVA

Charles Duncan McIver, founder of the State Normal and Industrial School (now UNCG), decided Minerva, Roman goddess of Wisdom, would be a good symbol for the school. Beginning with the first diploma in 1893, the head of Minerva has appeared on every diploma awarded by the institution.

The class of 1907 donated the original Minerva statue - made of plaster - to the university. In 2003, the class of 1953 commissioned a replacement, made of bronze, and placed outside the Elliott University Center in the heart of campus.

"...incline thine ear unto wisdom

UNCG's School of Nursing, which was established in 1966, is the third largest in North Carolina. It has three departments – Adult Health, Parent-Child and Community Practice – and is recognized for the excellence of its programs and the success of its graduates. The master's program in nurse anesthesia was ranked eighth nationally by U.S. News and World Report. In addition, UNCG is the first institution in the UNC system to offer a combined Master of Science in Nursing and Master of Business Administration in health management.

Despite record numbers for enrollment, UNCG still enjoys a student-faculty ratio of 17:1 with a faculty totalling 1,080. More than 2,000 bachelor's degrees and nearly 1,000 master's and doctoral diplomas are awarded annually. Over the last several years, 75 percent of freshmen have returned the following year.

THE UNCG CAMPUS AND THE GREENSBORO SKYLINE

UNCG has long had a reputation for academic excellence, and student-athletes at UNCG are not an exception to the rule. At the end of each of the last five academic years, more than 40% of UNCG student-athletes held a grade-point-average of 3.0 or better, including 51% of them last year. In spring 2010, UNCG's student-athletes had a combined GPA of 2.93. UNCG's student-athletes combined for a 2.99 GPA for the 2010-11 academic year.

The School of Music, which was established in 1921, is rated as one of the Top 20 in the country and combines rigorous theory, history, and performance training with a broad liberal arts education. Pictured above, the university opened a $25.7 million state-of-the-art music facility in 1999. The school offers the only comprehensive slate of performance and music education degrees from the baccalaureate through the doctorate in North Carolina.

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro will redefine the public research university for the 21st century as an inclusive, collaborative and responsive institution making a difference in the lives of students and the communities it serves. UNCG is a ...

- Learner-centered, accessible and inclusive community fostering intellectual inquiry to prepare students for meaningful lives and engaged citizenship;
- Research university where collaborative scholarship and creative activity enhance quality of life across the lifespan;
- Source of innovation and leadership meeting social, economic and environmental challenges in the Piedmont Triad, North Carolina and beyond; and
- Global university integrating intercultural and international experiences and perspectives into learning, discovery and service.

VALUES STATEMENT

The University of North Carolina at Greensboro, a community including students, faculty, staff, and alumni, will demonstrate its commitment to ...

- Inclusiveness – A welcoming and inclusive academic community, based on open dialogue and shared governance, offers a culture of caring with visible, meaningful representation of differences;
- Collaboration – Interdisciplinary, intercommunity, inter-institutional and international collaboration is reflected and rewarded in teaching, research, creative activity, community engagement and infrastructure;
- Sustainability – Academics, operations and outreach are conducted with careful attention to the enduring interconnectedness of social equity, the environment, economy and aesthetics;
- Responsibility – A public institution, the university responds to community needs and serves the public in a systematic fashion through the mutually beneficial exchange of knowledge and resources in a context of partnership and reciprocity; and
- Transparency – Goals, processes, decisions and outcomes are accessible and measurable, resulting in enhanced performance, trust and accountability.

CHANCELLOR

Dr. Linda P. Brady became the 10th chancellor of The University of North Carolina at Greensboro on Aug. 1, 2008.

Brady succeeded Dr. Patricia A. Sullivan, UNCG's first woman chancellor, who retired July 31, 2008, after almost 14 years in the post.

In recommending Brady to the Board of Governors,

UNC President Erskine Bowles said: "Over the past 25 years, Linda Brady has accumulated a wealth of leadership experience at highly respected public, urban universities, as well as in the halls of Washington. At each step along the way, she has proven herself to be an energetic leader who promotes collaboration, creative problem-solving, and real-life commitment to scholarship, research, and public service. . . .

"With her broad experience in higher education and federal government, her demonstrated integrity and sound judgment, and her profound understanding of the global marketplace in which our students must compete, Linda Brady will be a forceful and effective leader for UNC Greensboro."

A native of New York City and the first member of her family to attend college, Brady graduated from Douglass College, the women's division of Rutgers University, in 1969 with a degree in political science. She received a master's degree in the field from Rutgers (1970) and a doctorate in political science from The Ohio State University (1974). She began her academic career as an assistant professor of political science at Vanderbilt University in 1973 and joined the faculty at Goucher College in Maryland three years later.

From 1978 to 1985, Brady held several positions in the U.S. Department of State and the U.S. Department of Defense. Among other roles, she served as a political analyst in the State Department's Office of Disarmament and Arms Control and as special assistant for mutual and balanced force reductions in the Office of the Secretary of Defense. She later served as a senior fellow in international security and arms control at the Carter Center of Emory University (1986-87) and as a distinguished professor of national security at the U.S. Military Academy (1991-92).

From 1993 to 2001, Brady led the Sam Nunn School of International Affairs at the Georgia Institute of Technology, where she was also a professor of international affairs. She joined North Carolina State University in 2001 as Dean of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences and professor of political science, and over the next five years was credited with building the stature and visibility of the College, launching a number of new graduate degree programs, and significantly increasing external support for the humanities and social sciences at NC State. She left North Carolina in 2006 to become the chief academic and operating officer at the University of Oregon.

Brady has authored or co-edited three books and numerous book chapters and scholarly articles in the fields of American foreign policy, international negotiation and arms control. Among other professional organizations, she is a member of the International Studies Association, the American Political Science Association, the International Institute for Strategic Studies, and the Council on Foreign Relations. A past recipient of the Georgia Tech School of Social Sciences Teaching Award, she has earned the Superior Honor Award from the U.S. Department of State and is a two-time recipient of the Outstanding Civilian Service Medal from the Department of the Army. She was an American Council on Education Fellow in 1997-98, serving her fellowship year at the University of Iowa under the mentorship of President Mary Sue Coleman and Provost Jon Whitmore.

Since moving to UNCG, Brady has become a member of the Greensboro Rotary Club. She is also on the Board of Directors for United Way of Greater Greensboro and the Greensboro Partnership.

Brady is married to Gustav "Steve" Heyer, a retired Army officer. She has two adult stepsons and three grandchildren: Stephen Heyer and his wife, Suzanne, live in Richmond, Va., with their children Alyx, Megan and Andrew Casey, while Michael Heyer lives in Chicago, Ill.

In accepting the position at UNCG, Brady said, "This is one of the very best jobs in American higher education. I am so grateful for this opportunity and humbled by the trust you have place in me. I shall not let you down."

Kim RECORD

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Kim Record begins her third-year as Director of Athletics at UNCG. She was named to the post on Sept. 27, 2009.

Record, who most recently had served as a consultant with ISP Sports, was the senior associate director of athletics at Florida State University from 1995 to 2008, and held a succession of positions at the University of Virginia from 1984-1995, culminating with an appointment as associate director of athletics for administration.

She emerged from a national search that drew 125 candidates, and is UNCG's first female athletic director. There are only 29 female athletic directors in the NCAA Division I, with five of them in the UNC system. Record is only the second woman to hold an athletic director's position in the 89-year history of the Southern Conference.

"I am delighted that Kim Record is joining UNCG as director of intercollegiate athletics," said UNCG Chancellor Linda P. Brady upon Record's hiring. "She is the right person for this position, and she possesses the leadership, administration and fundraising skills that are essential to bringing greater success to Spartan athletics. I look forward to working with her to raise UNCG's program to a higher level of visibility and excellence."

At UNCG, Record leads a program that fields men's and women's teams in 18 sports, 250 student-athletes and 57 employees. She succeeded Nelson E. Bobb, UNCG's first-ever AD who resigned from the post after directing Spartan athletics for 26 years.

Record is responsible for the leadership, administration, organization and finances of UNCG's athletics program, which is undergoing a major shift in its men's basketball program. The Spartan men's basketball team began playing its games in the Greensboro Coliseum in 2009-10.

Among other responsibilities, she coordinates fundraising and operation of the Spartan Club with the vice chancellor for university advancement. She will oversee efforts to engage alumni, fans and the community with UNCG athletics. The AD also took the lead role in strategic planning and in athletics facilities development. The athletics budget is approximately $8.8 million, and athletic scholarships provided for the 2009-10 academic year exceeded $2.1 million.

In her 13 years at Florida State, she had a broad range of administrative duties, including serving as a member of the Executive Management Team, which determined and implemented policy decisions for a 19-sport, $50 million intercollegiate program. She directly supervised three sports programs – men's and women's basketball and women's soccer – and monitored Title IX compliance. Other areas included executive-level staffing; day-to-day departmental operations; serving as liaison with the trademark licensing program; and oversight for marketing, media and public relations, and radio and television contracts.

In construction, she facilitated FSU's $6 million state-of-the-art soccer and softball stadium and its $10 million men's and women's basketball training center. She oversaw a project that showcased the history of athletics at FSU as part of a $100 million facilities improvement plan. Her initial responsibilities as associate director of athletics at FSU included oversight of men's and women's tennis, swimming & diving and softball. Record also held the designation of senior woman administrator.

At Virginia, she supervised all aspects of the day-to-day operations of the department and specialized in external operations. She implemented marketing and promotional strategies for all 26 sports programs as associate director of athletics for external operations. She was the executive staff member of a capital campaign team created to raise $50 million. She came up through the ranks at Virginia, where she earned her bachelor's degree, starting out as a sports information intern who was progressively promoted in the department to associate director of athletics for administration.

As a consultant with ISP, Record provided marketing expertise in the area of athletics sports signage, including videoboards, scorer's tables and other digital signage. She has also coordinated purchase and installation between vendor, institution and ISP.

Within the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), Record has served on both the executive committee and the Director's Cup Committee. Within the NCAA, she served on the Women's Soccer Committee and the Regional Soccer Committee.

A native of Charlottesville, she graduated from Virginia and earned an M.S. degree in sports management from Florida State. She has two sons – Kyle, 23 a graduate student at the University of Virginia, and Josh, 18, a senior at Leon High School in Tallahassee, Fla.

THE SPARTAN CLUB

The Spartan Club is a non-profit organization whose primary purpose is to secure scholarship support for nearly 250 student-athletes who compete in 18 men's and women's NCAA Division I athletic programs at UNCG. UNCG proudly proclaims that 100 percent of Spartan Club contributions go directly to athletic scholarships for deserving student-athletes.

Methods of Giving

Cash, Checks and Credit Card Gifts

Provide the yearly financial resources needed to operate the athletic program. Payments may be spread over the course of a fiscal year (July 1-June 30), but all pledges must be paid by June 30. The university accepts cash, checks and credit cards (American Express, MasterCard, Visa).

Employer Matching Gifts

Matching gifts double or triple the impact of your gift and increase your membership level. Be sure to enclose your matching gift form with application and donation and associate benefits.

Athletic Scholarship Endowments

These provide tuition, room, meals, books and fees on an annual basis for a student-athlete. Pay tribute to someone's life and accomplishments or leave your own legacy while strengthening UNCG's athletic program.

Planned and Estate Gifts

These gifts include life income arrangements from trusts, annuities, income funds, as well as life insurance policies and individual estate bequests, such as cash or real estate.

Endowed Athletic Scholarships

A named endowment to support athletic scholarships may be created with a commitment of $50,000 or more. The endowment generates income that is awarded to student-athletes on an annual basis.

SPARTAN SUCCESS

Student-athletes at UNCG have enjoyed a tremendous amount of success over the years. Although the athletic department celebrated its 40th season in 2006-07, athletics at UNCG date back to the 1940s in the days before the university became co-ed.

Golfer Nancy Porter, who went on to a successful pro career, is regarded as one of UNCG's first student-athletes, competing in tournaments on the national level in the late 1940s.

In 1963, as the university prepared to go co-ed, UNCG began to formally organize athletic teams. Women's basketball, under head coach Ellen Griffin, women's tennis, women's golf and field hockey were started. LPGA Hall of Famer Carol Mann was on one of the early UNCG women's golf teams.

In 1967, UNCG began men's athletics and the intercollegiate athletics program received formal recognition from the university. In the fall of 1967, the Spartan was adopted as the program's mascot.

In 1968, UNCG's men's teams joined the Dixie Athletic Conference, known today as the USA South Conference, on the NCAA Division III level. Women's teams competed as part of the AIAW early on, with UNCG being one of the lead organizers of the organization. Two of the first men's sports were basketball and bowling.

In 1971, with the emergence of the five-player rule in women's basketball, UNCG finished fourth in the National Collegiate Tournament.

Two years later, the women's golf team won the AIAW national title – UNCG's first-ever team national crown. Porter coached the squad and future professional golfer Donna Horton White was on the squad.

Since then, UNCG has enjoyed a number of successes:

- Five national titles in men's soccer during the 1980s and a runner-up finish in women's tennis.
- An unprecedented five-year move from Division III to Division II to Division I.
- A trip to the "Big Dance" – the NCAA men's basketball tournament – in just its fifth year of Division I status.
- Men's soccer coach Michael Parker and women's basketball coach Lynne Agee were the first to lead teams to the NCAA tournament in all three divisions.
- A baseball squad built from scratch by Mike Gaski that made it to the NCAA tournament in just its fifth season of play.
- A men's soccer program that conquered all comers for two months to become the No. 1 team in the nation in 2004, the beginning of UNCG's three straight NCAA tournament Round of 16 appearances and four in five years.
- Kyle Hines, who became just the sixth player in college basketball history to record 2,000 points, 1,000 rebounds and 300 blocked shots in a career.
 - Individuals like wrestler Dock Kelly, who overcame birth defects that left him without legs, qualifying for the NCAA Championship.
 - Students like Siggj Eyjolfsson, who earned Academic All-American honors three times.

From major league pitcher Brian Moehler to MLS champion Alejandro Moreno to LPGA star Becky Morgan, Spartan alumni have gone on to successful careers in sports. That success isn't just limited to the playing field, either. The late Doug Hamilton was one of the pioneers within MLS and played on the UNCG national championship teams of the 1980s. Eyjolfsson returned to his native Iceland and is one of the top people in his native country's soccer federation, currently serving as their women's national team head coach.

Spartan athletics has had its success stories over the years ... and the best is yet to come.
